Monthly Commentary

The Alpha Moderate Fund delivered a total return of 1.52% (net of fees) in January 2024, which was well above the Morningstar Australian Moderate Target Allocation Index by +0.92% and the Peer Median by +1.06%.

January was the third consecutive strong month for Australian and Global Shares, which were again led by last year's dominate themes in Technology/Artificial Intelligence and Weight Loss Drugs. Bond yields rose in January as traders pushed out expectations for interest rate cuts to later this year and the US Dollar also strengthened.

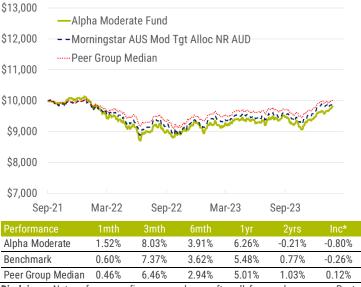

For the Fund, the key contributors were US/Global Technology Giants (including NVIDIA, Microsoft, Meta Platforms, ASML and TSMC) and Big Phama (Novo Nordisk and Eli Lilly). Other winners were MercaroLibra (South America's equivalent of PayPal/Amazon) and Deckers Outdoor (which owns Australia's UGG Boots).

The key detractors were Australian Resources Shares (BHP, Arcadium Lithium, IGO and Gold Road Resources) and Chinese Shares (Alibaba, Baidu and PDD) which both lagged on the back of China lagging economy. The Fund also had positions in Rockwell Automation and Domino's Pizza, which both sunk on poor earnings results and were sold out due to deteriorating fundamentals. The position in US Treasury Bonds also detracted as bonds underperformed cash due to greater confidence in the economic outlook.

The Fund remains overweight to Growth Assets despite our concerns about the outlook for the economy this year. The current portfolio is biased towards higher quality companies, which should fare better in a tougher earnings environment. We again only made relatively minor changes to the Fund in January, which reflects the recent momentum for our key themes and strong performance of the Fund over the last 12 months. The changes included introducing positions in Logitech (computer software/hardware), Intercontinental Exchange (US share exchange), HUB24 (Australian Investment/Superannuation platform), Volvo (Swedish automobiles) and Manhattan Associates (marketing consultants) and trimming our position in Goodman Group (Australian Property/Fund Manager) on valuation grounds. The Fund remains underweight US banks and US Listed Property, which are the major areas of concern this year given the large increase in interest rates over the last two years.
